1.7 Million People Will Get One of These This Year
What Everyone Needs to Know about Traumatic Brain Injuries.

Brain injuries can happen to anyone, not just athletes. They may occur at school, at home, or even on vacation, while doing home repairs, or simply from falling down the stairs. Therefore young and old, students, employees, and homemakers can be exposed to brain injury.

Some people with light concussions will not even be seen by a doctor and those affected might go through life with recurring headaches, vision and balance problems, memory problems and even behavioral issues. Mild brain injuries may get reactivated years later and show up as illnesses that do not respond to accepted medical treatment protocols.

After a double concussion, Susana Stoica used her prior experience of working with brain trauma to develop her own unique recovery program. Having a special ability to work with the human energy field, Susana can correct energy field irregularities, allowing the body's innate healing program to work again. She does all her work at a distance.

Susana Stoica has a Ph.D. in Computer Engineering with a thesis in designing computers with brain cell-like circuits. She is a born energy healer, having done her first healing at age 7. She is currently writing her ninth book.

Susana is also a Certified Healing Touch Practitioner and a Certified Hypnotherapist whose expertise in emotional healing is more applicable than ever in the wake of the stress caused by the coronavirus epidemic.

A veteran of many media interviews (see her website HealingBrainInjury.com), Susana has lectured to doctors, nurses, medical students, and laypeople. She presented her work with brain injury at a conference at Harvard Medical School, and her findings about delayed brain trauma were published in a peer-reviewed medical journal.
